NEW GENERAL STRIKE IS FACING SHANGHAI

CHINESE SEEK TO CONTROL FOREIGN CONCESSIONS

REFUGEES AND FOREIGN RESIDENTS CROWDED WITHIN SETTLEMENT

WAIT TENSELY TODAY FOR EXPECTED ATTACKS BY NATIVE MOBS

By H. MISSELWITZ
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, March 28.—Faced by the threat of a new general strike if the foreign concessions of Shanghai are not turned over to the Chinese, foreign residents and refugees crowded within the settlement waited tensely today for expected attacks by native mobs.

The U. S. S. Perry and Ford and seven Japanese cruisers swelled the total of foreign ships anchored off the city, and 700 Nipponese troops were landed to help in the defense of the settlement. Japanese residents met to consider advisability of evacuating Shanghai.

Agitators constantly attempted to incite the Chinese in the native city to attack the "foreign devils" in the settlement. The plea to storm the barricades met little open response, but crowds of natives milled about the barbed wire-protected gates, a constant threat to those within.

Meanwhile refugees arrived constantly from Yangtze river cities, and reports of anti-foreign threats came from a score of communities.

Foreigners were evacuating Wuhu. The U. S. S. Preble took aboard many at Taichow and attempts were being made to rescue those at Chaotcheng and Chinkiang.

Fifty thousand natives attended a mass meeting outside the settlement gates at Shanghai and adopted resolutions threatening to tie up the city's industries if control of the concessions was not given to the native government. The meeting was followed by a picturesque parade. No violence was reported. Cantonese leaders attended the demonstration.

The inside of the settlement, however, presented a picture of war and terror. Armed troops were constantly on duty at barricades and barbed wire entanglements about the settlement. Bugle calls at night warned residents to beware of appearing on the streets. Chinese were permitted to enter and leave the settlement only after they were thoroughly searched.

The Cantonese forces, under command of General Chiang Kai-Shek and Pei Chung-Hsi, seemed to have the native city fairly well under control, but residents were disturbed by the unanimous agreement of the refugees from Nanking that southern soldiers were the ones who looted foreign consulates and homes, killed seven Europeans, Americans and Japanese and wounded several more.

Some refugees said the atrocities were perpetrated by Hunan troops, recently incorporated in the nationalist army, and not by Cantonese troops. All seemed to agree, however, that the blame was on the southern army.

The squabble between French concession authorities and the leaders of the main foreign settlement apparently had been settled, and it was reported American marines might be sent to the aid of the small force of Frenchmen, Ananites and Senegalese guarding the concession. Mobs attacked the concession several times yesterday and the defending troops were forced to fire into the crowds, causing many casualties.

The French asked for aid, but refused to agree to demands of General Duncan, British commander and by right of seniority director of the entire defense force, that the whole French concession be placed under his control. Many residents of the concession, which adjoins the main foreign settlement, petitioned the French consul to agree to Duncan's request.

Brig. Gen. Smedley Butler, commanding the American marines, seemed to have solved the difficulty by pointing out that there were many Americans in the French concession, and that the U. S. marines were bound to protect Americans no matter where they were.

Caring for the refugees in the settlement became a serious problem as foreigners from up-river cities arrived by boat and train.

The U. S. S. Preston, bringing the last of the refugees from Nanking, was greeted by factory whistles and bugles when it docked at sundown yesterday. The tired white men

BAND OF FANATICS IN THE PHILIPPINES FIGHT CONSTABULARY

Manila, March 28.—(UP)—The leader and 19 members of a band of fanatics on the island of Mindanao were killed in a clash with a detachment of the Philippine constabulary, according to the report of Colonel Luther Stevens at headquarters here today.

Col. Stevens who is at Cotabato, Mindanao, said that Mamuroc, leader of a rebellious group called "Alanghats" and 19 of his followers fell during an attack upon a wilderness stronghold.

Other hundreds of Mamuroc's followers fled to another fortress. The whole section has been aroused and further clashes are expected, Col. Stevens reported.

and women who came down the gangplank were sadly bedraggled.

Many of the men had been forced by the Chinese to disrobe, and arrived here in borrowed coolie clothes.

Mrs. J. E. Williams, wife of the slain vice-president of Nanking University, lifted a tear-stained face to tell how her husband was shot down before her eyes as he chatted with the looting Chinese, hoping to keep them in a good humor. All the jewels and cash of the missionaries were taken before Dr. Williams was shot.

Miss Anna Moffett, American woman who was wounded at Nanking, also arrived on the Preston and was taken to the general hospital. A. J. Bowen, Kewanee, Ill., another refugee, said Miss Moffett was wantonly shot by Chinese in the Presbyterian mission office after she had given them $1,300—all the money in the safe—in response to their demands.

Miss Moffett first gave the Chinese only $200, and then was shot in the leg, she said. She dragged herself to the safe and got the remaining $1,100, and the Chinese shot her in the abdomen as they left.

The refugees seemed to agree that the nationalist troops were the rioters, and they unanimously said only the timely bombardment by British and American ships prevented the murder of all foreigners gathered at Socony Hill.

No American sailors landed during the Nanking disturbance, the U. S. consul general told the United Press. One small group from the British ship Emerald was the only foreign landing party, he said, and it did not enter the city itself.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK GIVES INTERVIEW

Shanghai, March 28.—Foreigners in Shanghai are absolutely safe so far as the Cantonese army is concerned, Chiang Kai-Shek, youthful commander-in-chief of the nationalist forces, told the United Press in an interview today, in which he also outlined the southern plan to drive on towards Peking at the earliest possible time.

"My army is ordered to preserve peace in Shanghai," he said, adding that he had telegraphed Eugene Chen, foreign minister of the southern government, to come to Shanghai to negotiate with foreign diplomats over the status of the settlement and concessions.

He said he did not believe the communist-centrist split in the Kuomintang (nationalist government) was serious.

But for the northern Chinese faction, Chiang had no such words of peace as he offered to foreigners.

"The Cantonese will not compromise," he said. "We will drive on to Peking as soon as possible, to attain our goal of a united, peaceful China."

Plans for the punitive expedition northward are as yet indefinite, said the plain-spoken commander who has led the southern army on its sweep northward through the rice fields from Canton to Shanghai, Nanking and the Yangtze river in a campaign which seasoned military observers said could not be successful.

"But I have given the order for mobilization for our final campaign and it will start soon," he added. "Three columns of troops will push northward on three fronts. One will follow the coast through Shantung. One will go through Honan, clearing out the sector held by Wu Pei-Fu. The third will follow the Nanking-Peking railway to the northern capital."

The unbearded commander-in-chief of the southern armies greeted me without ostentation. He was clad in the plain uniform of a private which he habitually wears, and he wore no decorations or insignia, unless a necktie of red and blue—the

AVIATORS ARE ANXIOUS TO SPAN ATLANTIC

NON-STOP NEW YORK-TO-PARIS FLIGHT IS GOAL OF THE ENTHUSIASTS

COMMANDER BYRD FORMS COMPANY TO BUILD NECESSARY PLANE

New York, March 28.—(UP)—With the fame and fortune attendant upon a non-stop New York-to-Paris flight as their goal, several groups of aviators today announced progress in their plans to span the Atlantic.

Commander Richard E. Byrd, first air conqueror of the north pole, said the America Trans-Oceanic Company, Inc., had been formed and is building a plane, "America," which will attempt the flight.

The $25,000 Raymond Orteig prize for the first trans-Atlantic air voyage will not be sought by Byrd and Floyd Bennett, he said. Byrd and Bennett "have not definitely decided how, where or when we will attempt to cross the Atlantic with this plane," it was added.

Officials of the Sikorsky Manufacturing Co. revealed that a twin-motored transport plane now under construction will be used by Capt. Rene Fonck, French ace, whose attempt last September ended in disaster at Roosevelt Field, two of the crew being burned to death when the plane caught fire and was destroyed.

The new plane will have only two motors instead of three and hence will not have to carry as much gasoline as the heavily-loaded S-35.

Lieut. Commander Noel Davis also will attempt the epochal flight. His biplane, "The American Legion," is being completed, and he hopes to take off in late spring or early summer.

Charles Nungesser, second ranking French war ace and M. Coli, who lost an eye in the war, will set out from Paris toward New York in a one-motor plane.

Cantonese colors — could be called such.

"I am cognizant of the friendly sympathy of America," Chiang said, "and needless to say, it is deeply appreciated."

"The incident at Nanking was most unfortunate and if reports are true that Americans joined the British in the bombardment of the city, I fear the news may cause misunderstanding and doubt of the good will of Americans toward the revolutionary party."

"The stories of refugees of atrocities at Nanking may possibly be true. I am investigating thoroughly. It must be remembered, however, that China is in the midst of revolution. The enemy is constantly seeking to spread ill-feeling abroad against the revolutionists."

"Our policy has always been against hostility toward foreigners, and all my subordinates have from me personally definite instructions to protect lives and property regardless of nationality."

"The northern retreaters often dress in nationalist uniforms when they are engaged in looting, to spread distrust of the southern cause."

After giving his assurance of the safety of foreigners in Shanghai, Chang said the southerners were trying to restore peace and tranquility from anarchy.

"We are cleaning out the lawless element and the gunmen who cause trouble to foreigners everywhere," he said.

"We will leave the problem of the Shanghai foreign settlements to diplomacy when Foreign Minister Chen arrives. After that, I will not be interested in diplomacy, for I am a fighting man—but I will back the Cantonese government's policy to the limit."

MACHINE GUNS ROAR IN DETROIT'S UNDERWORLD WAR

Detroit, March 28.—(UP)—Machine guns made their first appearance in a Detroit underworld war here today when two men were shot to death and a third seriously wounded by a volley of bullets from a rapid firing gun.

George Cohen and Joe Bloom, alleged underworld characters, were shot to death in the corridor of a fashionable apartment building. Frank Wright, their companion, was seriously wounded.

The three victims, according to information obtained by police, had gone to the apartment house in search of an alleged gambling house employee who had been "kidnaped" and held for ransom.

Police are seeking four men, who gave the names of Abe and Simon Axler, Samuel "Honey" Miller, and John Tolzador, when they rented an apartment in the building where the slaying occurred.

According to Wright, he and the slain men were called by telephone and informed that "Fish" Bloomfield, alleged lieutenant of Charles T. "Doc" Brady, alleged gambling house proprietor, was held a captive in apartment 308, Miladorea apartment. He said he and his companions motored to the apartment house, arriving at about 4:30 a. m.

As they walked down the corridor, a steel door at the rear was jerked up, and a man with a machine gun, flanked by two others with automatic pistols, opened fire.

Police counted 120 bullet holes in the woodwork of the building and bodies of the two dead men were riddled with bullets.

TO HOLD INQUEST INTO THE DEATH OF PUGILIST

MOVIE STUNT MAN AND BOXER KILLED IN BRAWL SATURDAY

OCCURRED AT CRESCENT CLUB, NIGHT LIFE RESORT AT HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, March 28.—(UP)—An inquest was to be held today into the death of Eddie Diggins, movie stunt man and pugilist, who was killed during a brawl at the Crescent club, a night life resort.

Diggins died early Saturday morning in the arms of Lloyd Hamilton, screen comedian. From a wound over his heart it was first believed he had been stabbed.

Police later concluded, however, that his death had been accidental and that the wound had been inflicted by a blade-like piece of glass from a chandelier which shattered during a fight between motion picture players and gangsters.

All suspects, including Charles Meehan, asserted bootlegger, had been released from custody. Meehan, who was placed under technical arrest on suspicion of murder, was still at the hospital today recovering from injuries. His incoherent statement that "somebody threw me through a window" was linked with the crashing of the chandelier.

60 REBELS AND 30 FEDERAL TROOPS KILLED IN CLASH

Mexico City, March 28.—(UP)—Sixty to 70 rebels and 30 federal troops were killed in a clash in the Pucachos hills, state of Jalisco, a dispatch to the newspaper El Universal said.

Two thousand federal soldiers attacked and routed 700 rebels, using artillery and infantry in the assault, the dispatch added.

COMMITTEE REPORTS TO SENATE, HOUSE

DEPLETED RESERVE, MISMANAGEMENT, WORTHLESS ASSETS CAUSE CLOSING

EMBEZZLEMENTS FURTHER ADD TO THE MAJOR CAUSES EXISTING

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Incompetent bankers in an already crowded field caused the majority of the 236 bank failures in the past six years, according to a joint legislative committee report to the Minnesota house and senate today.

Depleted reserve, mismanagement, worthless assets and embezzlements formed the major causes in the bank closings, according to the committee, which would be improved by the following recommendations:

Requiring directors to own more stock and to perform their duties for which they should be held strictly liable by law.

A graduated increase in capital to help prevent inexperienced and incompetent men from entering the banking business.

Requiring banks to establish a surplus equal to 50 per cent of the capital.

Limiting deposits to not more than twenty times the capital and surplus.

Prohibiting the loaning of money by banks on second mortgages except as a means of protecting or securing loans previously made.

Enactment of a law making it a gross misdemeanor to wilfully and maliciously circulate false statements concerning the solvency of a bank.

Provision in law that bank officers be held responsible for excess loans and making of such loans a gross misdemeanor.

Bank guaranty legislation similar to that now in effect in Nebraska, recently studied by a Minnesota legislative committee, is "not feasible" according to the committee report today, and "cannot be applied to banking conditions as they now exist in Minnesota."

DOUBLE HATCHET MURDER INVESTIGATED

Miami, Fla., March 28.—(UP)—Upon the success of their hunt for C. H. Collins, an unmarried salesman, rests solution of a double hatchet murder discovered here last week, police believed today.

The body of a man lying beside that of Mrs. Edward Nevers at the Nevers home, at first thought to have been Collins, has been definitely identified as Edward Nevers, the woman's husband.

Collins was a roomer at the Nevers home and only a few days ago supervised some work done there by carpenters. The double murder was committed about March 17, condition of the bodies showed.

Neighbors at first thought the man's body looked more like Collins than Nevers, but its condition made positive identification uncertain.

PLANS TO REPLENISH MEDICINAL WHISKEY SUPPLIES IN U. S.

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—Plans for replenishing America's rapidly diminishing medicinal whiskey supplies were to be drafted today at a meeting of distillers, whiskey owners and treasury officials.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews called the conference which hopes to work out a program to accomplish all the details originally planned in the whiskey bill which failed in congress.

Whiskey owners attending the meeting represent stocks of 10,000,000 gallons of pre-war liquors held in bond. These men were to discuss bottling of stocks to prevent loss from evaporation.

LANDRY'S DISEASE BRINGS DEATH TO MILL WORKER

Fall River, Mass., March 28.—(UP)—Landry's disease has brought death to Gil Esrella, 22, a mill worker.

The patient died last night after a seven-day battle with the same form of creeping paralysis that recently took the life of Alfred Frick of Chicago.

One hundred and fifty members of the Paramount Swimming club had volunteered to furnish artificial respiration—the form of treatment resorted to in the Frick case. A pleuritic condition which developed caused physicians to decline their offer.

The paralysis, which first affected Estrella's toes, spread rapidly upward, and had reached the heart and lung region when death came.

TO SEEK VIEWS OF THE PUBLIC ON REGULATING RADIO

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—To seek views of the public, the Federal Radio commission will begin a series of hearings tomorrow on regulation of the radio broadcasting industry.

Commission members believe all 733 existing stations will be granted licenses although some will probably have to accept a time limit on their operation.

The hearings will open with a discussion of the possibility of broadening the broadcasting band to permit operation of additional stations. Experts are to testify on this point. The commission will study the effect of widening the band below 200 meter and above 550 meters.

Problems to be considered at the meetings include:

Wednesday, reducing frequency separation; Thursday, simultaneous broadcasting with same frequency and chain broadcasting, division of time and consolidation of broadcasting service; Friday, limiting the number of stations and a general discussion of all problems.

COUNTESS REFUSES TO TELL WHY SHE SHOT ENGLISHMAN

Paris, March 28.—(UP)—Although she was believed dying, the Countess De Janze, nee Alice Silverthorne of Buffalo and Chicago, today refused to tell police why she shot Raymond De Tracord, wealthy Englishman, who had been her companion on big game hunting expeditions.

The countess shot Tracord and tried to commit suicide in a railway carriage just as the train was about to leave Paris.

"I decided to shoot him just as the train was leaving," the countess said. "Why is my own secret. Don't ask me."

While she was refusing to reveal her motive, her aunt, Mrs. Frank May of Chicago, sat outside the door of her hospital room, awaiting the end which physicians said might come at any time.

The countess' police dog, which stood guard over her and Tracord after they were shot, refusing to let trainmen and police approach, went mad when he was finally captured and taken to the police station, it was reported.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT IN HEAD-ON CRASH; PASSENGER, FREIGHT

Oklahoma City, March 28.—(UP)—Eight persons were injured in a head-on collision of a Rock Island passenger train and a west-bound Rock Island freight near here today. Four of the injured, including Mrs. James Corkhill of Escondido, Calif., were brought to a hospital here.

None was believed in a critical condition. Crews of both trains escaped injury, according to reports.

Argentina and Brazil May Participate Again in League of Nations

Paris, March 28.—(UP)—Argentina and Brazil are considering resumption of active participation in the League of Nations, reports from Geneva published in Paris newspapers said today.

JUNE 15 AS OPENING DATE FOR BASS, ETC.

ALL FISH CAUGHT, REGARDLESS OF SIZE, COUNTED PART OF BAG

LIMITS ON CATCHES SUBSTANTIALLY LOWERED IN THREE CASES

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Minnesota house of representatives committees today acted upon several important legislative measures, including salary increases for state officials, game and fish, small loans and electric water power.

The civil administration committee killed a bill which would have granted salary increases to the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, their deputies, and members of the railroad and warehouse commission. Riders in appropriations would have granted increases from $200 to $700 to the various state officers.

Radical changes in the game and fish laws were recommended by the game and fish committee, including the elimination of northern and southern zones, removal of size limits for game fish and a uniform season opening for fishing.

June 15 was recommended as the opening date for bass, crappies and sunfish. All fish caught, regardless of their size, must be kept and counted as part of the day's catch under another recommendation. Limits on catches, however, were lowered, including pickerel from 15 to eight; bass 10 to seven; pike 15 to eight; whitefish 10 to seven.

A bill was indefinitely postponed which would have given to the railroad and warehouse commission the right to license all applicants for water power in Minnesota.

Small loans legislation now before the public welfare committee was not definitely decided upon today, pending the report of a subcommittee, due Wednesday. Rep. J. C. Pratt, Crookston, was active, however, in urging passage of his measure which would require all persons making small loans to give full reports of operations to the state.

SOUTH CAROLINA BUYS POP IN SPITE OF BLUE LAWS

Columbia, S. C., March 28.—(UP)—South Carolina drank pop, played golf, bought gasoline, and was generally had yesterday, despite its blue laws.

Four Charleston druggists who dared to sell soft drinks will be arrested today, according to Constable C. A. Rector, and may have to pay for their fun.

Soda was obtainable also in Spartanburg, Aiken and Greenville. In the latter place, gasoline could be purchased for the operation of pleasure cars.

At Charleston, gasoline was sold under the protection of a circuit court ruling which listed it among necessities.

Golf was generally played, the governor having announced a truce on this phase of the law pending a supreme court ruling on legality of Sunday play.

ATLANTIC FLEET IN LONG RANGE BATTLE PRACTICE

With the Atlantic Fleet in the Caribbean, March 28.—(UP)—The fleet has carried out long range battle practice without an untoward incident and the standing of the ships probably will be made known soon.

The reaction in Haiti to the March 17 fleet review by President Borno was excellent, the people feeling that their national dignity had been properly recognized by the appearance of the fleet in Gonaves Bay.

On the personal invitation of Dominican Minister Lovatin at Port-Au-Prince, United States Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, and Colonel Hardee, of the marine corps, will leave Port-Au-Prince today to visit San Antonio.

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, March 26.—(UP)—Francisco de Paula, Italian trans-Atlantic liner, left at 6:30 a. m. today for Havana. De Pinedo will fly to New Orleans, La.

According to Wright, he and the slain men were called by telephone and informed that "Fish" Bloomfield, alleged lieutenant of Charles T. "Doc" Brady, alleged gambling house proprietor, was held a captive in apartment 308, Miladros apartment. He said he and his companions motored to the apartment house, arriving at about 4:30 a. m.

As they walked down the corridor, a steel door at the rear was jerked up, and a man with a machine gun, flanked by two others with automatic pistols, opened fire.

Police counted 120 bullet holes in the woodwork of the building and bodies of the two dead men were riddled with bullets.

TO HOLD INQUEST
INTO THE DEATH
OF PUGILISTMOVIE STUNT MAN AND BOXER
KILLED IN BRAWL
SATURDAYOCCURRED AT CRESCENT CLUB, NIGHT LIFE RESORT AT HOLLYWOOD

Hollywood, March 28.—(UP)—An inquest was to be held today into the death of Eddie Diggins, movie stunt man and pugilist, who was killed during a brawl at the Crescent club, a night life resort.

Diggins died early Saturday morning in the arms of Lloyd Hamilton, screen comedian. From a wound over his heart it was first believed he had been stabbed.

Police later concluded, however, that his death had been accidental and that the wound had been inflicted by a blade-like piece of glass from a chandelier which shattered during a fight between motion picture players and gangsters.

All suspects, including Charles Meehan, asserted bootlegger, had been released from custody. Meehan, who was placed under technical arrest on suspicion of murder, was still at the hospital today recovering from injuries. His incoherent statement that "somebody threw me through a window" was linked with the crashing of the chandelier.

60 REBELS AND
30 FEDERAL TROOPS
KILLED IN CLASH

Mexico City, March 28.—(UP)—Sixty to 70 rebels and 30 federal troops were killed in a clash in the Pucachos hills, state of Jalisco, a dispatch to the newspaper El Universal said.

Two thousand federal soldiers attacked and routed 700 rebels, using artillery and infantry in the assault, the dispatch added.

COMMITTEE
REPORTS TO
SENATE, HOUSEDEPLETED RESERVE, MISMAN-AGEMENT, WORTHLESS AS-SETS CAUSE CLOSINGEMBEZZLEMENTS FURTHER ADD TO THE MAJOR CAUSES EXISTING

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Incompetent bankers in an already crowded field caused the majority of the 236 bank failures in the past six years, according to a joint legislative committee report to the Minnesota house and senate today.

Depleted reserve, mismanagement, worthless assets and embezzlements formed the major causes in the bank closings, according to the committee, which would be improved by the following recommendations:

Requiring directors to own more stock and to perform their duties for which they should be held strictly liable by law.

A graduated increase in capital to help prevent inexperienced and incompetent men from entering the banking business.

Requiring banks to establish a surplus equal to 50 per cent of the capital.

Limiting deposits to not more than twenty times the capital and surplus.

Prohibiting the loaning of money by banks on second mortgages except as a means of protecting or securing loans previously made.

Enactment of a law making it a gross misdemeanor to wilfully and maliciously circulate false statements concerning the solvency of a bank.

Provision in law that bank officers be held responsible for excess loans and making of such loans a gross misdemeanor.

Bank guaranty legislation similar to that now in effect in Nebraska, recently studied by a Minnesota legislative committee, is "not feasible" according to the committee report today, and "cannot be applied to banking conditions as they now exist in Minnesota."

DOUBLE HATCHET
MURDER INVESTIGATED

Miami, Fla., March 28.—(UP)—Upon the success of their hunt for C. H. Collins, an unmarried salesman, rests solution of a double hatchet murder discovered here last week, police believed today.

The body of a man lying beside that of Mrs. Edward Nevers at the Nevers home, at first thought to have been Collins, has been definitely identified as Edward Nevers, the woman's husband.

Collins was a roomer at the Nevers home and only a few days ago supervised some work done there by carpenters. The double murder was committed about March 17, condition of the bodies showed.

Neighbors at first thought the man's body looked more like Collins than Nevers, but its condition made positive identification uncertain.

PLANS TO REPLENISH
MEDICINAL WHISKEY
SUPPLIES IN U. S.

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—Plans for replenishing America's rapidly diminishing medicinal whiskey supplies were to be drafted today at a meeting of distillers, whiskey owners and treasury officials.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews called the conference which hopes to work out a program to accomplish all the details originally planned in the whiskey bill which failed in congress.

Whiskey owners attending the meeting represent stocks of 10,000,000 gallons of pre-war liquors held in bond. These men were to discuss bottling of stocks to prevent loss from evaporation.

LANDRY'S DISEASE
BRINGS DEATH
TO MILL WORKER

Fall River, Mass., March 28.—(UP)—Landry's disease has brought death to Gil Esrella, 22, a mill worker.

The patient died last night after a seven-day battle with the same form of creeping paralysis that recently took the life of Alfred Frick of Chicago.

One hundred and fifty members of the Paramount Swimming club had volunteered to furnish artificial respiration—the form of treatment resorted to in the Frick case. A pleuritic condition which developed caused physicians to decline their offer.

The paralysis, which first affected Esrella's toes, spread rapidly upward, and had reached the heart and lung region when death came.

TO SEEK VIEWS OF THE PUBLIC ON REGULATING RADIO

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—To seek views of the public, the Federal Radio commission will begin a series of hearings tomorrow on regulation of the radio broadcasting industry.

Commission members believe all 733 existing stations will be granted licenses although some will probably have to accept a time limit on their operation.

The hearings will open with a discussion of the possibility of broadening the broadcasting band to permit operation of additional stations. Experts are to testify on this point. The commission will study the effect of widening the band below 200 meters and above 550 meters.

Problems to be considered at the meetings include:

Wednesday, reducing frequency separation; Thursday, simultaneous broadcasting with same frequency and chain broadcasting, division of time and consolidation of broadcasting service; Friday, limiting the number of stations and a general discussion of all problems.

COUNTESS REFUSES TO TELL WHY SHE SHOT ENGLISHMAN

Paris, March 28.—(UP)—Although she was believed dying, the Countess De Janze, nee Alice Silverthorne of Buffalo and Chicago, today refused to tell police why she shot Raymond De Tracord, wealthy Englishman, who had been her companion on big game hunting expeditions.

The countess shot Tracord and tried to commit suicide in a railway carriage just as the train was about to leave Paris.

"I decided to shoot him just as the train was leaving," the countess said. "Why is my own secret. Don't ask me."

While she was refusing to reveal her motive, her aunt, Mrs. Frank May of Chicago, sat outside the door of her hospital room, awaiting the end which physicians said might come at any time.

The countess' police dog, which stood guard over her and Tracord after they were shot, refusing to let trainmen and police approach, went mad when he was finally captured and taken to the police station, it was reported.

EIGHT PERSONS HURT

Oklahoma City, March 28.—(UP)—Eight persons were injured in a head-on collision of a Rock Island passenger train and a west-bound Rock Island freight near here today. Four of the injured, including Mrs. James Corkhill of Escondido, Calif., were brought to a hospital here.

None was believed in a critical condition. Crews of both trains escaped injury, according to reports.

JUNE 15 AS
OPENING DATE
FOR BASS, ETC.ALL FISH CAUGHT, REGARDLESS OF SIZE, COUNTED PART
OF BAGLIMITS ON CATCHES SUBSTANTI-ALLY LOWERED IN THREE CASES

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Minnesota house of representatives committees today acted upon several important legislative measures, including salary increases for state officials, game and fish, small loans and electric water power.

The civil administration committee killed a bill which would have granted salary increases to the secretary of state, auditor, treasurer, their deputies, and members of the railroad and warehouse commission. Riders in appropriations would have granted increases from $200 to $700 to the various state officers.

Radical changes in the game and fish laws were recommended by the game and fish committee, including the elimination of northern and southern zones, removal of size limits for game fish and a uniform season opening for fishing.

June 15 was recommended as the opening date for bass, crappies and sunfish. All fish caught, regardless of their size, must be kept and counted as part of the day's catch under another recommendation. Limits on catches, however, were lowered, including pickerel from 15 to eight; bass 10 to seven; pike 15 to eight; whitefish 15 to eight.

A bill was indefinitely postponed which would have given to the railroad and warehouse commission the right to license all applicants for water power in Minnesota.

Small loans legislation now before the public welfare committee was not definitely decided upon today, pending the report of a sub-committee, due Wednesday. Rep. J. C. Pratt, Crookston, was active, however, in urging passage of his measure which would require all persons making small loans to give full reports of operations to the state.

SOUTH CAROLINA
BUYS POP IN SPITE OF BLUE LAWS

Columbia, S. C., March 28.—(UP)—South Carolina drank pop, played golf, bought gasoline, and was generally had yesterday, despite its blue laws.

Four Charleston druggists who dared to sell soft drinks will be arrested today, according to Constable C. A. Rector, and may have to pay for their fun.

Soda was obtainable also in Spartanburg, Aiken and Greenville. In the latter place, gasoline could be purchased for the operation of pleasure cars.

At Charleston, gasoline was sold under the protection of a circuit court ruling which listed it among necessities.

Golf was generally played, the governor having announced a truce on this phase of the law pending a supreme court ruling on legality of Sunday play.

IN LONG RANGE
BATTLE PRACTICE

With the Atlantic Fleet in the Caribbean, March 28.—(UP)—The fleet has carried out long range battle practice without an untoward incident and the standing of the ships probably will be made known soon.

The reaction in Haiti to the March 17 fleet review by President Borno was excellent, the people feeling that their national dignity had been properly recognized by the appearance of the fleet in Gonaives Bay.

On the personal invitation of Dominican Minister Lovatin at Port-Au-Prince, United States Senator Henrik Shipstead, of Minnesota, and Colonel Harlee, of the marine corps, will leave Port-Au-Prince today to visit San Antonio.

Port-Au-Prince, Haiti, March 26.—(UP)—Francesco de Pinedo, Italian trans-Atlantic pilot, left at 6:30 a. m. today for Havana. De Pinedo will fly to New Orleans, La.

Different Lumber for Different Uses
Get the Right Kind for Your Use

The man who has studied the subject of coal will very quickly tell you that some coals are immensely more valuable than others, even when they look alike, for the simple reason that some coals contain a greater amount of heat units than others. In the same way, the man who knows about lumber can very quickly explain to you why some lumbers are more valuable and more adaptable than other lumbers for certain uses, even though the average observer would never detect any difference between the two.

Not only is this true as between species of woods, but it is equally true as between grades of lumber of the same species of wood. We know lumber. We know grades. And we are here to see that you get the necessary information and satisfactory service from the lumber that you buy—that what you get is properly adapted to the use to which you will put it so as to render you the greatest value and the greatest economy.

TWO AMERICAN MARINES FIRED UPON BY NATIVES

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—Two American marines patrolling the Leon district in Nicaragua were fired upon yesterday by four natives who dropped their arms and fled when the marines returned the fire. Admiral Julian Latimer, commander of the United States special service squadron, reported today to the navy department.

Latimer reported also that on March 25 a marine corps plane flying between Derio and Matagalpa was fired upon and hit by natives, who escaped.

Latimer did not say whether the plane was damaged.

Coroner's Jury Declares Woman Died in Unknown Manner

Washington, March 28.—(UP)—A coroner's jury found today that Mrs. Knute Houck, wife of a former government psychiatrist, came to her death in a "manner unknown." Consequently Dr. Houck, held at Albany, Oregon, pending the inquest, will probably be released. Mrs. Houck's body was found in the river here last week, three months after her disappearance from home under mysterious circumstances.

Witnesses testified the Houcks' domestic life had been unhappy, leaving the inference the woman may have committed suicide.

NOVELIST STARTS "MAN-HUNT" FOR HER HUSBAND

SEARCH OF VAST SCOPE AND REVENGE GIVEN AS THE MOTIVE

MIRIAM NOEL WRIGHT GIVES OUT INTERVIEW AT SAN FRANCISCO

San Francisco, Cal., March 28.—(UP)—A "man hunt" of vast scope, with her husband the object of search, and revenge as a motive, may be started by Miriam Noel Wright, she said today.

Somewhere in the middle west is Frank Lloyd Wright, famous architect, and Mrs. Wright is determined to "get her man" and have him arrested on charges of wife desertion—even if she has to "walk through every state in the union" to find him.

"My patience is exhausted. He has haunted me at every turn," Mrs. Wright said. "While I am here in a dingy apartment, nearly penniless, and unable even to retain an attorney to fight my battle in the courts, he is living in luxury."

"But I'll track him down," she added with determination.

Charges against Wright of violating the Mann act were recently dismissed in Minneapolis. Mrs. Wright caused the charges to be filed because of an affair she said her husband had with Olga Milanoff, self-styled Montenegrin dancer, but according to Mrs. Wright, servant girl-adventuress.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS ABOUT EASTER HATS

By HEDDA HOYT
New York, March 28.—(UP)—Easter bonnets are adorning Fifth Avenue shop windows this week, their gay colors adding a touch of spring all along the Avenue.

Each shop it appears, is sponsoring its own special millinery colors, using but one color to a window. One large department store, having three windows on the Avenue, is displaying green, blue and orchid hats only. Their entire display shows the usage of two or three shades of one color on a hat. Monotone effects are entirely lacking, orchid and purple, light blue and bright royal blue and light and dark green tones being combined.

Several shops are featuring beige hats almost entirely. One shop combines navy with white or red. A pinkish rose shade is another favorite.

One of the interesting things about hats this season is that they may combine several shades of one color and at the same time combine materials. Such combinations as felt and straw or belting ribbon, straw and satin, or ribbon or straw and velvet are popular.

Small hats far outnumber large shapes although large drooping types of milan or hair are included in almost every window as though warning us that they will be popular when warm weather comes. Small felt shapes with narrow rippling brims, felt skull caps with clusters of flowers or flat ribbon trims over the ear-tabs and felts with upturning brims are all conspicuous. Mushroom-shaped poke effects of straw are also represented. This type of hat is very becoming to most women and they will be glad to find it returned again to fashion. Poke effects carried out in natural colored bankoos trimmed with colorful ribbon bands are noted as well as pokes of colored felt and straw.

Most women will not go in for straw hats until after Easter, felt and straw or straw and satin combinations being preferred. There is a reversible felt shape that is well liked. The most popular colors among reversible felts are black and beige or navy and rose.

Trimming is important this season. Flowers, ribbon or embroidery are used on most of the better class models.

ART EDITOR NEVER DOUBTED HIS WIFE

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Albert Snyder, art editor of Motor Boating, saw Henry Judd Gray for the first time on the night Snyder was murdered, District Attorney Richard S. Newcombe of Queens said today.

"Albert Snyder never doubted that his wife, Ruth, was altogether faithful to him," Newcombe said. "He trusted her implicitly. His first realization that her affections were turned in another direction was when he received from his sleep for a moment after having been hit by a sashweight in the hands of Gray and saw Mrs. Snyder standing beside her assailant."

A WAGE RE-

SLIGHT PROSPECT OF SETTLE-
MENT, SHUT DOWN
DWARNS APRIL 1

Indianapolis, Ind., March 28.—(UP)—Confronted with the unyielding stand of operators in practically all bituminous regions for a wage reduction, the international policy makers met at union headquarters today.

There appeared slight prospect of settlement of the wage controversy to avert a suspension of work in union bituminous mines April 1, before the policy committee went into session with John L. Lewis, president, and the international union officers. The policy committee meeting, scheduled for 10 A. M., was postponed until 2 P. M., while leaders held informal conferences on the situation.

Leaders declined to comment on the situation before the policy committee meeting, but the declaration that the bituminous miners would accept no reduction in wages was reiterated at union headquarters.

Baking Powder Composition

Service Before Profits

"Labor efficiency starts in the heart," says John A. Piquet in an article published in Independent Management.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that to be a profound observation, economically sound.

The efficiency achieved in the organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the result of its recognition of the human factors that enter into business.

In this highly complex modern world, every man has his specialized job whose ultimate object is the serving of his fellowmen. That is the conception of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) exists to serve the thirty million people of the Middle West. Supplying them with petroleum products of the highest quality is part of that service.

Twenty-nine thousand men and women are employed in this vast task. Capital to carry on this work of service is furnished by more than fifty thousand stockholders.

The time and energy of thousands of people and the money of many thousands more, wisely combined and directed, have made it possible for you to get gasoline for your car—or any other product of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—wherever you may happen to be in the Middle West. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) exists to serve you.

A spirit of service dominates the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), not only in its attitude toward the public, but in the relationships between the different parts of the organization.

There is a feeling of sympathy and fellowship among the employees and the directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The size of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has not destroyed its personal, human qualities.

The executives in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) today were once subordinates. As a consequence they have an intimate understanding of the problems confronting the men and women who are following their leadership.

Many tributes have been paid to the labor efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). That efficiency emanates from the heart.

A man who is engaged in a work which inspires his loyalty and enthusiasm—who knows the comradeship of other men engaged in the same big task—who has the confidence that a great organization is back of him, interested in his welfare and happiness—is ready to give the very best that is in him to his work. He is an efficient, happy worker.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is made up of 29,000 such workers.

Because of this efficiency, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to operate at a profit which provides reasonable returns to the stockholders on their investments. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved that when service is the first concern the profits take care of themselves.

Service Before Profits

"Labor efficiency starts in the heart," says John A. Piquet in an article published in Independent Management.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that to be a profound observation, economically sound.

The efficiency achieved in the organization of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is the result of its recognition of the human factors that enter into business.

In this highly complex modern world, every man has his specialized job whose ultimate object is the serving of his fellowmen. That is the conception of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) exists to serve the thirty million people of the Middle West. Supplying them with petroleum products of the highest quality is part of that service.

Twenty-nine thousand men and women are employed in this vast task. Capital to carry on this work of service is furnished by more than fifty thousand stockholders.

The time and energy of thousands of people and the money of many thousands more, wisely combined and directed, have made it possible for you to get gasoline for your car—or any other product of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—wherever you may happen to be in the Middle West. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) exists to serve you.

A spirit of service dominates the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), not only in its attitude toward the public, but in the relationships between the different parts of the organization.

There is a feeling of sympathy and fellowship among the employees and the directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The size of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has not destroyed its personal, human qualities.

The executives in the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) today were once subordinates. As a consequence they have an intimate understanding of the problems confronting the men and women who are following their leadership.

Many tributes have been paid to the labor efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). That efficiency emanates from the heart.

A man who is engaged in a work which inspires his loyalty and enthusiasm—who knows the comradeship of other men engaged in the same big task—who has the confidence that a great organization is back of him, interested in his welfare and happiness—is ready to give the very best that is in him to his work. He is an efficient, happy worker.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is made up of 29,000 such workers.

Because of this efficiency, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is able to operate at a profit which provides reasonable returns to the stockholders on their investments. The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has proved that when service is the first concern the profits take care of themselves.

SHOWS GOOD SENSE

DAYLIGHT savings time has been killed in Minnesota by the house of representatives, the vote standing 68 to 26. The bill prohibits communities from establishing daylight saving systems by ordinance. It requires all cities, towns and communities to maintain the standard time as established by congress.

If some few people or communities still hanker for this brand of daylight savings time, let them adopt the plan of many a family of Brainerd, by showing the alarm clock ahead. When still sleep hazy, one gets up according to the alarm clock and finds an extra half hour of time on one's hands. This helps to get the children ready for school and gives Pa ample time to make his daily wage job.

It was found during the war, when this vogue of altered time first came into effect, that it served well in industrial communities, but that it hampered the operations of the farmers. No morning dew is going to pay any attention to an accelerated clock. The sun comes out when it is good and ready, regardless of time changes by mortal man, and the dew disappears when sufficient heat of the sun causes it to evaporate. Haymaking follows the dictates of nature's time table, and no farmer by speeding his clock was able to get his hired help to the fields an hour earlier for haymaking.

And dairying faced the farmers with its problems. Cows resented being milked at night. The hired man objected to being hauled out of bed while Morpheus still ruled the field.

And the passenger on the trains traveling from Brainerd to the East, in the old days, faced daylight savings as well as change of time standards. True, there was one advantage. Frequent re-setting of watches threw the mechanism out of gear and made more work for the jewelers.

HOUSE ACTS WISELY

THE house acted wisely, says the Princeton Union, in amending the measure providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment on the distribution of the funds from the gasoline tax. "Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth are contributing generously to the construction and maintenance of the state highways and it would be just as well for the rural districts not to attempt to crowd a good thing too far.

"If a portion of the gasoline tax funds is to go to the township roads, a portion should also be set aside for the streets in the large cities."

In this regard, the Duluth Herald states that "the state is engaged in creating a very important state highway system, now well under way. Not a dollar of the vehicle license tax or the gasoline tax should be diverted from the fund created for this purpose until the state highway system is at least seventy-five per cent completed."

VALUE OF NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

JIM MORRISON, the sage of Morris, and the best authority on the comparative values of the various means of advertising, says that the local newspaper has by far the greatest value as a medium of advertising.

In his opinion, poster, or circular letter advertising is a poor substitute for the newspaper. As a proof of this he calls attention to the fact that after a merchant sends out posters to advertise a sale, these posters can readily be found either in the waste basket in the postoffice or along the roadside near the mail boxes, but seldom in the home.

On the other hand the newspaper containing the same ad is never found in the waste basket or by the roadside, but always in the home where it is kept from day to day to be read by each member of the family. Of course Jim is right, but we'll wager that there are stupid merchants in his town that don't agree with him.—Olivia Times.

COMMON COLD DESTROYS EFFICIENCY

THE common cold is an uncommon destroyer of morale, efficiency, etc. Government surveys indicate that the common cold goes to the head of the list as a cause of lost time.

In a survey of absences from work in a big industry, covering 10 years, the United States public health service statisticians found that colds caused a time loss of 1.4 days a year for every man on the payroll, and 2.1 days for every female employed.

Brainerd, in common with the rest of the nation, has its full share of the cold disorders, coupled with diseases of the throat and tonsils, as well as in serious cases terminating in pneumonia.

The common cold should be taken in hand by your physician. Primarily it may not be so serious, but unchecked it can lead to very serious ailments.

THE WAR IN CHINA

SOME subscriber called up the Brainerd Dispatch Saturday and asked if war had been declared in China.

We do not know of any war declarations made by the United States or any of the Allies, but to all intents and purposes all the implements and paraphernalia and ships and fighting men are being assembled to carry on, when required to protect our nationals and property, a good, healthy war.

With the augmented strength of 1,500 Marines, the Chinese mobs will now be able to tell their troubles to the Marines.

ONE of the nice things of being connected with a high school basketball team is the number of dinners, suppers and banquets one may be asked to attend. Unusual is the community which has not honored its high school basketball in some fashion regardless of whether they won or lost.

THE position of superintendent of the Park Rapids schools must be a desirable one, as the board of education there has received 41 applications.

HAITI is evidently a stranger to senatorial courtesy, denying admission to Senator King.

Matinee Ladies

"MATINEE LADIES," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picture production of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Bob Ward, a poor college student, working as a dancing partner for rich women, falls in love with Sally Smith, a cigarette girl. She warns him against the mysterious and beautiful Mrs. Hammond, habitué of the roadhouse, who finds her "thrill" in "hunting" Bob, who, however, trusts her. She offers him free use of her secret apartment. Bob withholds consent until he can talk to Sally, who, meanwhile, has received a gift of clothes from Mannion, a suitor favored by her mother. Sally listens to Bob's explanation in silence.

CHAPTER XIV—Continued

Finally she spoke, in so low and soft and strange a voice that if Bob had not been watching her lips he would not have recognized it as little Sally Smith's voice.

"But, Bob, you are not seriously considering this affair? You would not for one moment stoop to accept such a brazen plan!"

That was all she said—and she said it with the remote, impersonal sarcasm that women oftentimes affect in seeking to deride some grave plan of those whom they love. Bob felt decidedly miffed. He felt that Sally was being unreasonable. Of course, having appeared as an advocate for the plan, it was up to him to defend it. He sought to do so and in the course of his argument more and more convinced himself of the morality and honesty of Mrs. Hammond's offer.

He tried to tell Sally that, perhaps, she was unreasonably disposed toward Mrs. Hammond because of the superficial indications of the latter's butterfly existence, because of the wagging gab of

"You must send this stuff back to that cad, Mannion, at once!"

Mazie and the Madame. Which was, of course, the worst possible angle he could have adopted.

Sally and Bob both grew hot with their talk, and then, in the midst of it, Bob espied the opened box of fluffy clothing.

"What's that?" he asked.

"Oh, just—some clothes!" Bob, interested and admiring, got up to better examine the beautiful things. Even to his unpracticed eye the worth of the clothes was apparent, and the name and address of the modiste told an obvious story.

"Phew!" he whistled. "Rich uncle die—or something!"

One of Sally's brothers, who had been sticking his head through the door of the next room intermittently, yelled out elusively: "Naw, Mr. Mannion sent them!"

Bob, white-faced, whirled upon Sally: "Is that—true?"

Sally had risen now and was facing him; she stood as straight as a willow sapling and as independent.

"Yes!" she affirmed. "But—"

Bob gave her no time to explain, but interrupted hoily:

"And you've been reading me a lecture on morality because of Mrs. Hammond's proposal. Is this any—more moral?"

Both being very young and both being very much in love, they, of course, did the most absurd and unreasonable thing possible in the circumstances—that is, they both grew very huffed and stubborn.

Sally defensively rode a high horse because of Bob's swift leap to unjust conclusions; she vouchsafed no more than an indignant stamp of her foot and a half fearful. "Oh, Bob, how dare you talk to me like this?"

"You must send this stuff back to that cad, Mannion, at once!" he thundered. "Or, by holy Hannah, I'll go to him and knock his block off!"

"Boasting how strong you are?" she cried sarcastically.

"Send them back!" he said, as quarrelsome as any young lover could.

"I won't!"

A Similar Offense

A man named William Shakespeare was fined in court for game trespass. It was for a like offense the greatest William Shakespeare was forced to flee from his home.

Cleaning Picture Glass

Use alcohol or ammonia water to clean the glass over pictures. Dry carefully and polish with chamois or crumpled paper.

"If you don't send them back, then that's just as good as telling me not to come any more!"

"You probably won't anyhow. You'll be too comfortable living with Mrs. Hammond!"

"You'll be sorry you said that!"

"You'll be sorry for what you said, too!"

"Neither will I!"

"Well, if that's the way you feel, I may as well be going!"

Silence from little Sally Smith. Stubborn, bursting silence; while her delicate lips trembled like rose buds under the cruel thievery of a bumble bee.

Again, less confidently: "All right, then I may as well be going. I said! I guess I'll go to Mrs. Hammond—right now!"

Silence still from little Sally Smith.

Thereupon Bob Ward got up his highest dander, took his hat, fumbled with it for a moment, looked uncertainly at Sally, while the anger in him rose at her attitude, then strode indignantly from the house.

Sally broke out in tears of mingled rage and grief as the slam of the door behind Bob snapped her emotional tautness.

Her mother, who had, of course, been furtively listening to the whole affair, came into the room with an "I told you so" expression, but Sally in her stress and upset did not notice it. She called—almost screamed—to her mother:

"Mother, come help me, quick! I'm going to try on the evening dress that Mr. Mannion sent!"

Bob walked moodily away from Sally Smith's house. He walked very rapidly at first, his steps unconsciously trying to keep time with his burning thought. He strode along with his hands in his pockets and his temper and spirits in his pockets, too, for that matter.

Presently, gradually, his gait slackened to a more seemly pace; he no longer thoughtlessly shouldered other pedestrians out of his way. For the cool twilight wind, blowing in from the placid Hudson and tempering the summery late spring evening, did much to lower the temperature of his head and his veins.

Cooling, he was left bitter. After all, Freddy and Arch must have been right—about Sally. She was just like the rest of the women at the Palisado Inn. This was proven, in his eyes, by her apparent acceptance of the costly and indecently personal gift of clothes—even undies!—from Tom Mannion.

Tom Mannion!—who the devil was he! Bob would like to have his hands around this Mannion fellow's windpipe. He'd pitch him into the Hudson River below there. For, without any suggestion from his mind, Bob's steps had mechanically carried him west on Sally's street to Riverside Drive. Now he was striding down the Drive, but dead to its evening beauty, so deeply was he plunged in cankering reflections.

Mrs. Hammond, all in all, had shown up more favorably by comparison with Sally. Yes, even with Sally. For in Bob's own keen mind there had crept no intimation that Mrs. Hammond's motives were base. And even if they were? Heck, she would only be running true to form of what he had come to expect from every woman. After this evening's experience—even from Sally. Even from his precious little Dresden doll, with the combed-honey hair and the trustful eyes and the wistful smile—

Oh, darn it! Mrs. Hammond was all right. Sally was all wrong. Mrs. Hammond was a brainy, well-meaning, kindly friend. He had been an ass not to have accepted her offer of help immediately. His hesitation, no doubt, had put him in a bad light. First thing he knew, Mrs. Hammond would be withdrawing the proposition out of injured pride, and he certainly wouldn't be able to blame her.

When she had dropped him off, not an hour before, at Sally's corner, Mrs. Hammond had given him the address of her studio apartment, written on a calling card, and had told him:

"I'll be there, Bob, working on the conclusion of a story, all the evening. I'll expect you to come then to see the place and to talk things over. You can move down tomorrow. I hope—you will not allow anything foolish or puerile to come between you and the acceptance of my plan!"

Not to let anything foolish intervene! That had been her advice, and by the Lord Harry, he was going to follow it. If Sally had not alienated his honorable loyalty to her by the brazen acceptance of this Mannion's financial aid it would have been different, perhaps. He might have tried to reason things out with her. But, Mannion or no Mannion, it was a ill his clear obligation to himself, to the elevated engineering degree to an untimely commencement and to a good and sound start in his career to accept Mrs. Hammond's offer.

A Small Lock

In the days of Queen Elizabeth, Mark Scallot, a blacksmith, made a lock consisting of 11 pieces of brass, iron, and steel, all of which, together with the key, weighed but one grain. He also made a gold chain with 43 links, and when he had finished it he attached it to the lock and key, put the chain round a flea, and that nimble insect easily drew the lot.

"Phew!" he whistled. "Rich uncle die—or something!"

One of Sally's brothers, who had been sticking his head through the door of the next room intermittently, yelled out elastically: "Naw, Mr. Mannion sent them!"

Bob, white-faced, whirled upon Sally: "Is that—true?"

Sally had risen now and was facing him; she stood as straight as a willow sapling and as independent.

"Yes," she affirmed. "But—"

Bob gave her no time to explain, but interrupted her.

"And you've been reading me a lecture on morality because of Mrs. Hammond's proposal. Is this any—more moral?"

Both being very young and both being very much in love, they, of course, did the most absurd and unreasonable thing possible in the circumstances—that is, they both grew very huffed and stubborn.

Sally defensively rode a high horse because of Bob's swift leap to unjust conclusions; she vouchsafed no more than an indignant stamp of her foot and a half tearful, "Oh, Bob, how dare you talk to me like this?"

"You must send this stuff back to that cad, Mannion, at once!" he thundered. "Or, by holy Hannah, I'll go to him and knock his block off!"

"Boasting how strong you are?" she cried sarcastically.

"Send them back!" he said, as quarrelsomely as any young lover could.

"I won't!"

A Similar Offense

A man named William Shakespeare was fined in court for game trespass. It was for a like offense the greatest William Shakespeare was forced to flee from his home.

Cleaning Picture Glass

Use alcohol or ammonia water to clean the glass over pictures. Dry carefully and polish with chamols or crumpled paper.

"If you don't send them back, then that's just as good as telling me not to come any more!"

"You probably won't anyhow. You'll be too comfortable living with Mrs. Hammond!"

"You'll be sorry you said that!"

"You'll be sorry for what you said, too!"

"Neither will I!"

"Well, if that's the way you feel, I may as well be going!"

Silence from little Sally Smith. Stubbish, bursting silence; while her delicate lips trembled like rosebuds under the cruel thievery of a bumble bee.

Again, less confidently: "All right, then I may as well be going. I said! I guess I'll go to Mrs. Hammond—right now!"

Silence still from little Sally Smith.

Thereupon Bob Ward got up his highest dander, took his hat, fumbled with it for a moment, looked uncertainly at Sally, while the anger in him rose at her attitude, then strode indignantly from the house.

Sally broke out in tears of mingled rage and grief as the slam of the door behind Bob snapped her emotional tautness.

Her mother, who had, of course been furiously listening to the whole affair, came into the room with an "I told you so" expression, but Sally in her stress and upset did not notice it. She called—almost screamed—to her mother:

"Mother, come help me, quick! I'm going to try on the evening dress that Mr. Mannion sent!"

Bob walked moodily away from Sally Smith's house. He walked very rapidly at first, his steps unconsciously trying to keep time with his burning thought. He strode along with his hands in his pockets—and his temper and spirits in his pockets, too, for that matter. Presently, gradually, his gait slackened to a more seemingly pace; he no longer thoughtlessly shouldered other pedestrians out of his way. For the cool twilight wind, blowing in from the placid Hudson and tempering the summery late spring evening, did much to lower the temperature of his head and his veins.

Cooling, he was left bitter. After all, Freddy and Arch must have been right—about Sally. She was just like the rest of the women at the Palisado Inn. This was proven, in his eyes, by her apparent acceptance of the costly and indecently personal gift of clothes—even undies!—from Tom Mannion.

Tom Mannion—who the devil was he! Bob would like to have his hands around this Mannion fellow's windpipe. He'd pitch him into the Hudson River below there. For, without any suggestion from his mind, Bob's steps had mechanically carried him west on Sally's street to Riverside Drive. Now he was striding down the Drive, but dead to its evening beauty, so deeply was he plunged in cankered reflections.

Mrs. Hammond, all in all, had shown up more favorably by comparison with Sally. Yes, even with Sally. For in Bob's own keen mind there had crept no intimation that Mrs. Hammond's motives were base. And even if they were? Heck, she would only be running true to form of what he had come to expect from every woman. After this evening's experience—even from Sally. Even from the precious little Dresden doll, with the combed-honey hair and the trustful eyes and the wistful smile.

Oh, darn it! Mrs. Hammond was all right. Sally was all wrong. Mrs. Hammond was a brainy, well-meaning, kindly friend. He had been an ass not to have accepted her offer of help immediately. His hesitation, no doubt, had put him in a bad light. First thing he knew, Mrs. Hammond would be withdrawing the proposition out of injured pride, and he certainly wouldn't be able to blame her.

When she had dropped him off, not an hour before, at Sally's corner, Mrs. Hammond had given him the address of her studio apartment, written on a calling card, and had told him:

"I'll be there, Bob, working on the conclusion of a story, all the evening. I'll expect you to come then to see the place and to talk things over. You can move down tomorrow. I hope—you will not allow anything foolish or puerile to come between you and the acceptance of my plan!"

Not to let anything foolish intervene! That had been her advice, and by the Lord Harry, he was going to follow it. If Sally had not alienated his honorable loyalty to her by the brazen acceptance of this Mannion's financial aid it would have been different, perhaps. He might have tried to reason things out with her. But Mannion or no Mannion, it was a ill his clear obligation to himself, to the coveted engineering degree to a good and sound start in his career to accept Mrs. Hammond's offer.

A Small Lock

In the days of Queen Elizabeth, Mark Seallot, a blacksmith, made a lock consisting of 11 pieces of brass, iron, and steel, all of which, together with the key, weighed but one grain. He also made a gold chain with 43 links, and when he had finished it he attached it to the lock and key, put the chain round a flea, and that nimble insect easily drew the lot.

MAJOR SEAGRAVE AFTER NEW SPEED RECORD FOR CARS

WILL SEEK TO ESTABLISH 200-MILES-AN-HOUR MARK AT DAYTONA

DRIVES A THREE-TON DOUBLE ENGINED "MYSTERY CAR"

Major H. O. D. Seagrave will try for a new world's speed record for automobiles tomorrow. He has written the following article for the United Press, indicating he will make every effort to catapult his three-ton, double-engined "mystery car" over Daytona Beach to establish a 200-miles-an-hour mark.

By MAJOR H. O. D. SEAGRAVE (Written for the United Press) (Copyright, 1927, by United Press) Daytona Beach, Fla., March 28.—All members of the thousand horsepower Sunbeam party are anxiously waiting for tomorrow when we hope to go for the world's speed record.

The wind, which has been discouraging for the last day, is veering into the northeast and it is my understanding that a northeast or east wind is necessary for a good beach.

We have been working since Thursday on the car and expect that it will be ready in time to make the record attempt some time between 9:30 and 11:30 tomorrow morning.

With the close co-operation of the police chief and officials of the American Automobile Association we do not expect to have the trouble we had on our trials of last Thursday, when the timing wires were interfered with by passing automobiles and when I had to reduce my speed to avoid hitting a motorcycle policeman.

CORNSTALK CLOTHES MAY SOON BE WORN

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Cornstalk clothes will appear soon in the list of "what the well-dressed man or woman will wear," according to results of tests announced today showing that the hitherto waste commodity can be used in the manufacture of artificial silk.

A process, devised by Dr. Bela Dornier, a Hungarian chemist, was pronounced practicable and economical by the C. B. Roberts Engineering company, which made the investigations for a group of capitalists who have acquired the American rights.

In addition to artificial silk, the process will make possible the conversion of cornstalks into paper, motion picture film, explosives, celluloid lacquers and artificial leather, the announcement said.

League of Nations

Preparatory Disarmament Commission Convenes

Geneva, March 28.—(UP)—Hugh S. Gibson, principal United States representative on the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission, intervened in today's discussion to press the United States contention that military, aerial and naval limitation should be discussed separately.

The commission today resumed its efforts to find a compromise for the conflicting disarmament projects of England and France regarding the manner in which military effectiveness should be limited. The Belgian representative said abolition of conscription "would be a most unfortunate form of disarmament for Europe unless the world were able to give Europe the same degree of security enjoyed by those more fortunate, isolated democracies which had been able to suppress conscription."

Limitation of the number of trained reserves which could be sent to the front within a given period of time was a major principle in the English scheme, and the delegates generally objected to it.

NOTHING CERTAIN ABOUT INTERIM SCHALL COMMISSION

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—No assurance was given by the legislature today of an interim continuance of the U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall election investigation.

A joint resolution providing the continuance has been prepared, according to Sen. W. A. Blanchard, chairman, but has not yet been acted upon by the committee and probably will not be placed before the legislature before the investigation is continued Tuesday.

A. N. Jacobs, former Schall worker, principal witness in the enemy camp, is expected to be turned over to counsel for Schall for cross examination Tuesday. Jacobs will likely occupy the witness stand for several more days.

DENVER MAN MARCHED TO CHURCH

Denver, Colo., March 28.—(UP)—It was "a good sermon at that," S. M. Smitz, tinner, who was marched to church by a policeman, remarked today.

Smitz became angered at his children yesterday morning because they had interrupted his game of solitaire. He made considerable noise. The children cried. Patrolman R. W. Wickenhauser, who was passing by, stopped in to see what the trouble was.

"What church do you go to?" Patrolman Wickenhauser asked the still fuming Smitz.

"St. Elizabeth's," Smitz replied. "St. Elizabeth's it is, then," Patrolman Wickenhauser said as he escorted his prisoner to the church door.

Polar Region Quadrants

The south polar region is divided into quadrants. The American quadrant, from latitude 0 degrees to 90 degrees west; the Australian quadrant, 90 degrees east to 180 degrees east; the Pacific quadrant, 90 degrees west to 180 degrees west, have been explored by various expeditions. The African quadrant, from longitude 0 degrees to 90 degrees east, is the unknown region.

CARDINALS OF ST. LOUIS HAVE MANY BACKERS

AT LEAST ONE OF FAVORITES IN NATIONAL PENNANT RACE

WITH EXCEPTION OF FIELD GENERALS, CLUB HAS SAME ROSTER AS LAST YEAR

This is the second of a series on the prospects of the major league clubs in the 1927 pennant race.

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 28.—Backed by experience and the confidence that should fortify a young championship ball club, the St. Louis Cardinals will be at least one of the favorites in the national pennant race.

With the exception of the field generals the club is the same as it was last year.

Rogers Hornsby and Bill Killifer, who were credited with doing the heavy thinking that brought the first national league pennant to St. Louis, have departed.

Hornsby is with the Giants and Killifer moved over to the Browns. The results of the change in management are a matter of opinion.

Bob O'Farrell, rated in 1926 as the most valuable player in the league is handling the club and he is one of the smartest men in the game.

The Cardinals have a well balanced club. The infield is one of the best in the league, the outfield is strong, the pitching staff will compare favorably with that of any of the rival clubs and there is nothing lacking behind the bat.

It remains to be seen what the moral effect of the change in management will be but there is no reason to believe that the spirit of the club will be upset.

The mechanical strength of the team, with Frank Frisch playing second base, probably will not be reduced. Hornsby, of course, is a better ball player than Frisch but Hornsby did not have a good season last year. He failed to win the national league championship and he was handicapped by a weak back that threw him off his game.

Frisch also had a bad season. He was not on the best of terms with John McGraw, manager of the Giants and finally deserted the club in St. Louis. It is likely that Frisch will play a much better game this year because of the change. Hornsby also may get back his old form since he has been relieved of the obligation of team management.

The spirit of the Cardinals seems to be all that should be desired for a championship club. Man for man, it is a young ball club and the players will hustle for O'Farrell.

The infield of the Giants is being hailed as another million dollar affair but the Cardinals have an inner defense that rates almost as strong. Bottomley is a better first baseman than the Giants have in Terry; Frisch and Hornsby rate about the same at second base and Thevenow and Bell at the fast corner are just as good as Lindstrom and Jackson.

The St. Louis outfield is better than any combination the Giants have now and the pitching staff, with old man Alexander holding the role of the ace, is as strong as that of the Pirates and the Giants.

3 Canning Companies Deny Being in Proposed Consolidation

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Three of the largest canning companies in southern Minnesota denied today that they were included in the consolidation of 14 factories in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, proposed by William H. Smith, Winthrop.

The Faribault Canning Company, the E. J. Vaux Canning Company, both of Faribault and the Fairmont Canning Company, Fairmont, reiterated today through their officials, that they did not consider joining the $3,000,000 merger under consideration by Winthrop canning officials.

Officials further declared that they had not been invited to join the group and had no authentic reports of the merger from other companies in the state.

With the close co-operation of the police chief and officials of the American Automobile Association we do not expect to have the trouble we had on our trials of last Thursday, when the timing wires were interfered with by passing automobiles and when I had to reduce my speed to avoid hitting a motorcycle policeman.

CORNSTALK CLOTHES MAY SOON BE WORN

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Cornstalk clothes will appear soon in the list of "what the well-dressed man or woman will wear," according to results of tests announced today showing that the hitherto waste commodity can be used in the manufacture of artificial silk.

A process, devised by Dr. Bela Dornier, a Hungarian chemist, was pronounced practicable and economical by the C. B. Roberts Engineering company, which made the investigations for a group of capitalists who have acquired the American rights.

In addition to artificial silk, the process will make possible the conversion of cornstalks into paper, motion picture film, explosives, celluloid, lacquers and artificial leather, the announcement said.

League of Nations Preparatory Disarmament Commission Convenes

Geneva, March 28.—(UP)—Hugh S. Gibson, principal United States representative on the League of Nations preparatory disarmament commission, intervened in today's discussion to press the United States contention that military, aerial and naval limitation should be discussed separately.

The commission today resumed its efforts to find a compromise for the conflicting disarmament projects of England and France regarding the manner in which military effectiveness should be limited. The Belgian representative said abolition of conscription "would be a most unfortunate form of disarmament for Europe unless the world were able to give Europe the same degree of security enjoyed by those more fortunate, isolated democracies which had been able to suppress conscription."

Limitation of the number of trained reserves which could be sent to the front within a given period of time was a major principle in the English scheme, and the delegates generally objected to it.

NOTHING CERTAIN ABOUT INTERIM SCHALL COMMISSION

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—No assurance was given by the legislature today of an interim continuance of the U. S. Senator Thomas D. Schall election investigation.

A joint resolution providing the continuance has been prepared, according to Sen. W. A. Blanchard, chairman, but has not yet been acted upon by the committee and probably will not be placed before the legislature before the investigation is continued Tuesday.

A. N. Jacobs, former Schall worker, principal witness in the enemy camp, is expected to be turned over to counsel for Schall for cross examination Tuesday. Jacobs will likely occupy the witness stand for several more days.

DENVER MAN MARCHED TO CHURCH

Denver, Colo., March 28.—(UP)—It was "a good sermon at that," S. M. Smutz, tinner, who was marched to church by a policeman, remarked today.

Smutz became angered at his children yesterday morning because they had interrupted his game of solitaire. He made considerable noise. The children cried. Patrolman R. W. Wickenhauser, who was passing by, stopped in to see what the trouble was.

"What church do you go to?" Patrolman Wickenhauser asked the still fuming Smutz.

"St. Elizabeth's," Smutz replied. "St. Elizabeth's it is, then," Patrolman Wickenhauser said as he escorted his prisoner to the church door.

Polar Region Quadrants

The south polar region is divided into quadrants. The American quadrant, from latitude 0 degrees to 90 degrees west; the Australian quadrant, 90 degrees east to 180 degrees east, and the Pacific quadrant, 90 degrees west to 180 degrees west, have been explored by various expeditions. The African quadrant, from longitude 0 degrees to 90 degrees east, is the unknown region.

Epidemic's Big Toll

An estimate of the deaths caused by the influenza epidemic, 1918 and 1919, was made by Laumonier in the Gazette des Hopitaux, September 30 and October 2, 1919. He says that for the total of 11 months, allowing for analogous mortalities in Central Asia and the Far East, the world mortality could easily have exceeded 25,000,000.

Finding Buried Treasure

Scientists have experimented with finding large deposits of ore by means of delicately arranged electrical instruments, as well as other methods, and have had slight success, but no instrument has been made which will detect presence of hidden money or other metal in small quantities.

CARDINALS OF ST. LOUIS HAVE MANY BACKERS

AT LEAST ONE OF FAVORITES IN NATIONAL PENNANT RACE

WITH EXCEPTION OF FIELD GENERALS, CLUB HAS SAME ROSTER AS LAST YEAR

This is the second of a series on the prospects of the major league clubs in the 1927 pennant race.

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, March 28.—Backed by experience and the confidence that should fortify a young championship ball club, the St. Louis Cardinals will be at least one of the favorites in the national pennant race.

With the exception of the field generals the club is the same as it was last year.

Rogers Hornsby and Bill Killefer, who were credited with doing the heavy thinking that brought the first national league pennant to St. Louis, have departed.

Hornsby is with the Giants and Killefer moved over to the Browns. The results of the change in management are a matter of opinion.

Bob O'Farrell, rated in 1926 as the most valuable player in the league is handling the club and he is one of the smartest men in the game.

The Cardinals have a well-balanced club. The infield is one of the best in the league, the outfield is strong, the pitching staff will compare favorably with that of any of the rival clubs and there is nothing lacking behind the bat.

It remains to be seen what the moral effect of the change in management will be but there is no reason to believe that the spirit of the club will be upset.

3 Canning Companies Deny Being in Proposed Consolidation

St. Paul, March 28.—(UP)—Three of the largest canning companies in southern Minnesota denied today that they were included in the consolidation of 14 factories in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa, proposed by William H. Smith, Winthrop.

The Faribault Canning Company, the E. J. Vaux Canning Company, both of Faribault and the Fairmont Canning Company, Fairmont, reiterated today through their officials, that they did not consider joining the $3,000,000 merger under consideration by Winthrop canning officials.

Officials further declared that they had not been invited to join the group and had no authentic reports of the merger from other companies in the state.

MRS. COOLIDGE MAY ATTEND CONVENTION

Pi Beta Phi Sorority to Invite "First Lady" to Breezy Point Lodge

JUNE 26 TO JULY 1

There is Likelihood That Summer White House May be in Minnesota This Year

Mrs. Calvin Coolidge, member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority, will be invited to attend the 25th biennial convention of the national sorority, which will be conducted June 26 to July 1 at Breezy Point Lodge at Pelican Lake. The University of Minnesota chapter will be hostesses. President and Mrs. Coolidge are expected to spend the summer in the middle west, and there is likelihood the summer White House may be in Minnesota. On account of this the sorority hopes to have Mrs. Coolidge as its guest.

Mrs. Coolidge is a member of the sorority and as an officer has attended several conventions. Miss May L. Keller, president emerita of Pi Beta Phi, and dean of women at Westhampton College, Richmond, Va., will send the invitation to Mrs. Coolidge. Miss Keller is a personal friend to "the first lady of the land." In addition to Mrs. Coolidge, 120 other prominent members of the sorority will be invited. Close to 700 women are expected to be present from all parts of the United States. Mrs. Molton E. Guterson, Minneapolis, is chairman of the convention committee. The sorority will celebrate its 60th anniversary at the meeting.

RECRUITING SUSPENDED

Becomes Effective March 31; Ranks of U. S. Navy Are Filled

Among the enlistments last week in the United States Navy from the vicinity of Brainerd were those of Benjamin F. Kile and Harold A. Ward, of Bain, Aitkin county. Seven other young men made application for enlistment but were rejected as being physically unfit.

Notwithstanding the restrictions placed on the age, physical and character eligibility of applicants, enlistments have increased to such an extent that it has been found necessary to suspend recruiting temporarily, effective March 31 from this territory. Regional Recruiting Officer Kelly announced this morning.

The Brainerd sub station will be maintained however until conditions again demand the resumption of first enlistments. Young men interested are invited to write and their names will be placed on a waiting list.

GIRL OF TWO, KIDNAPED, SAFE AT HOME

JOSEPHINE FRAZIER, OF CHATTANOOGA, SPENT 4 DAYS IN HANDS OF KIDNAPERS

FATHER, FRED G. FRAZIER, PAID $3,333 FOR RANSOMING LITTLE ONE

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 28.—(UP)—Josephine Frazier, 2, was safe in her mother's arms today, apparently none the worse for having spent four days in the hands of kidnapers. The bank account of her father, Fred G. Frazier, city commissioner, was $3,333 lower by the payment of ransom for her recovery. The girl was kidnaped Wednesday night and held for $3,333 ransom. Frazier paid the money Saturday and at 10 o'clock last night, the girl, naked but uninjured, was left on the doorstep of the rectory of the First Presbyterian church. The pastor called police, who turned Josephine over to her parents.

In response to instructions received in a letter, Frazier paid the odd sum demanded, in currency, to "a negro with a broomstick" whom he met at an appointed corner in Chattanooga.

PROGRESS RESTS ON EDUCATION

Whole Hearted Support Urged for Religious and Educational Institutions

DETERMINATION NECESSARY

Seek Training for Youth in Loyal Traditions of Forefathers in Schools

"But it was making education not only common to all, but in some sense compulsory to all, that the destiny of the free republics of America was practically settled."

Well might we apply those words of Lowell to our own community. Its future—its progress—its continued prosperity—indeed, its very destiny—depends entirely upon religious instruction and education. Education of each succeeding rising generation. Guiding our youngsters—Brainerd's future citizens—along the right path of reverence, ambition, determination, will to progress and that strongest human quality of all, Faith!

They say, "As the parents, so the children." There's a good deal of truth in that. If you parents love Brainerd—if you're glad you're living here—if you're satisfied with the educational and religious facilities our community offers—you must support those latter institutions. Support them loyally and contribute to them generously so far as your financial ability will permit.

Youth Must Be Served!

For the moment the educational and religious appointments of a community begin to lose strength, that community starts on the downward path. Youth must be served and taught the difference between right and wrong, the difference between loyalty and disloyalty, the difference between kindness and selfishness. It must be educated in the traditions of our forefathers and taught the patience and perseverance that made them the great men they were. And where, but in our schools and churches, can it be taught better and be made to carry greater weight upon the young, impressionable mind?

Briefly, on the score alone, hinges the entire future welfare and progress of Brainerd. It's up to you grown folks to lead the way. What your duties are and what we can accomplish in the furtherance of our educational policy—are recited in the fifth of our business people's Greater Brainerd campaign broadsides to be found on page six of this issue. Turn to it—read it—and Let's Go!

GIRL OF TWO, KIDNAPED, SAFE AT HOME

JOSEPHINE FRAZIER, OF CHATTANOOGA, SPENT 4 DAYS IN HANDS OF KIDNAPERS

FATHER, FRED G. FRAZIER, PAID $3,333 FOR RANSOMING LITTLE ONE

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 28.—(UP)—Josephine Frazier, 2, was safe in her mother's arms today, apparently none the worse for having spent four days in the hands of kidnapers. The bank account of her father, Fred G. Frazier, city commissioner, was $3,333 lower by the payment of ransom for her recovery.

The girl was kidnaped Wednesday night and held for $3,333 ransom. Frazier paid the money Saturday and at 10 o'clock last night, the girl, naked but uninjured, was left on the doorstep of the rectory of the First Presbyterian church. The pastor called police, who turned Josephine over to her parents.

In response to instructions received in a letter, Frazier paid the odd sum demanded, in currency, to "a negro with a broomstick" whom he met at an appointed corner in Chattanooga.

BANDIT ROBS OIL STATION COLLECTION CAR OF $1,000

Minneapolis, March 28.—(UP)—Leaping on the running board of an oil station collection car, a bandit at noon today forced Al H. Keith from the wheel of the machine, and drove away with the car plus the $1,000 Keith had just collected.

More than a score of persons were passing by at the time of the robbery, but so quickly and so smoothly was it done, that none were aware of what had occurred.

NEW GENERAL STRIKE IS NOW FACING SHANGHAI

ported to the navy department to day.

His message, somewhat easing the tension of the last few days, said the threatened mob action against the international settlement at Shanghai Sunday failed to materialize, and consequently he was able to recall to his flagship the landing party he had sent ashore as a precaution.

The presence of added forces in the settlement seemed to have calmed the tempers of the Chinese.

Williams' message was timed 4:45 P. M. March 28, Shanghai time.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur took President Coolidge reports of the Chinese situation during the forenoon, and afterward told the press the situation appeared somewhat better than the week-end.

Wilbur declined to discuss possible dispatch of more forces than the 1,500 marines ordered Saturday to proceed to China. Some quarters believed, however, it might be decided to send army forces from the Philippines, inasmuch as it will take about 30 days for the marines to reach China.

1,500 ADDITIONAL MARINES TO CHINA

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 28.—The transport Henderson, which will bear 1,500 additional marines to China, will arrive Sunday at San Diego, according to word to the navy department today from its commander, Capt. Robert Morris.

The Henderson was recalled from Nicaragua to move the new contingent to China.

With this information, the navy started making final plans for concentrating scattered marine forces, and embarking them at the earliest possible moment at San Diego.

OLD FIGHTING SIXTH TO GO TO CHINA

Philadelphia, March 28.—The old fighting sixth regiment of marines which made its name at Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and the Argonne, was being reorganized here today for service in China.

Marines from Brooklyn navy yard, Lakehurst, N. J., New London, Newport, Boston, Bingham, Portsmouth, N. H., Fort Mifflin, Pa., Iola Island, Dover, N. J., and Paris Island, S. C., were converging here, where they will entrain for San Diego, sailing point for the Asiatic station.

At San Diego they will be augmented by marines from other parts of the country to bring the regiment, disbanded since the world war, up to full strength.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 28.—Bound for China, 197 United States marines left the navy yard here today.

Shanghai, March 28.—(6:30 P. M.)—Cantonese nationalist troops and British sailors clashed today on the Yangtze river above Kiukiang, when the Chinese commandeered a British river steamer. A British destroyer briefly went into action, routed the Chinese, and recaptured the vessel.

Evacuation of Chungking was proceeding rapidly today. The six Americans remaining at Chungking were staying at the Standard Oil Company property there with the U. S. S. Paul Jones standing nearby.

The U. S. S. Preble arrived today with American refugees from Tai-chow and Chaochow. There were 15 men, 14 women and 18 children. All Americans have been evacuated from Wush and Chanchow. An official statement said seven American missionaries at Kiangyin had been evacuated by a native boat on the night of March 28 and would reach Woosung this evening. Twenty-five Americans from Nanchang arrived at Kiukiang March 26 and were to leave for Shanghai yesterday. Only five Americans would remain at Kiukiang. About 100 American men remained at Hankow today. Americans from Yangchow reported the looting of the Baptist mission.

Potomac poisoning continued to cause distress among the refugees today. Eleven from the steamers Teacanth and Hsiant-Seantah were taken to hospitals today. The crew of the U. S. S. Noa also was badly hit by poisoning but so far there had been no deaths.

Thousands of Chinese today shouted, "Down with the Christians!" during mass meetings at Wuhu and Hanchow. Posters depicted the figure of Christ torn from the cross, and there were caricatures of unprintable content designed to ridicule Chinese Christians as the product of imperialism.

ALL ELEMENTS OF WAR TIME PRESENT

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 28.—All the elements of war times—hasty conferences at the White House, urgent dispatch of swift fleet and troop orders, were again in evidence in the national capital today as officials moved to cope with the far away Chinese revolution.

As commander-in-chief of the army and navy and dictator of American foreign policy, President Coolidge is being kept in intimate touch with events in the dramatic battle on the other side of the globe to protect American lives and property.

The president is called on the telephone almost every night by Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur with information.

During the day Mr. Coolidge and his two secretaries are in an almost continuous series of conferences at the White House. On several occasions Mr. Coolidge has called naval communications personally on the telephone, saying "this is President Coolidge talking; have you received any recent dispatches from China?" In normal times, all the president's telephoning is done by his subordinates.

Mr. Coolidge is keeping perhaps in closer touch with the Chinese situation than with any other problem which has arisen during his administration. He can recite difficult Chinese names and places, with statistics as to American forces, with all the ease of an expert.

Despite all the activity here, the real "war" is being conducted with a free hand, by Admiral Williams, Admiral Hough and the commanders at the front in China. They have been informed they can have whatever force they deem necessary, and they are at liberty to use their own judgment in protecting American lives with the single restriction that extreme caution should be used. Adding Williams and his conference are the diplomats like Minister MacMurray, Consuls Gauss, Davis and others.

The responsibility for the conduct of the "war" is therefore theirs but the generalissimo in Washington are highly anxious over the situation, fearing it may grow into another "Boxer affair" with serious loss of life.

Shanghai, March 28.—Reports from Hangchow today said mobs were parading through the city, shouting "Down with Kai-Shek." The rumors of dissension in the Cantonese nationalist party were confirmed by refugees arriving from Hangchow. The radical faction of the nationalist party was in control of the city, refugees said.

FILIPINOS COMMANDING CANTONESE ARMY UNITS

Manila, March 28.—Filipinos trained in the insular national guard under American instructors are now actively commanding units of the Cantonese army in China, it was learned today.

Several of these officers formerly held high ranking posts in the guard. For more than a year, Cantonese representatives have offered attractive salaries and commissions to experienced military men and many Filipinos have accepted the offers.

Cantonese nationalist success is arousing the keenest interest here and each new manifestation of anti-foreignism is displayed prominently in the newspapers.

JAPAN SENDS PROTEST TO CHINA

London, March 28.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokyo today said the Japanese government had sent a protest amounting to an ultimatum to the Cantonese nationalist government of China on receipt of a wireless report that two Japanese had been killed at Nanking.

SPREAD REPORTS OF NATIONALIST SUCCESSES

Peking, March 28.—Reports of nationalist success in the Yangtze valley today were causing restlessness and financial depression in Manchuria, the area controlled by Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, most powerful of the north China opponents of the Cantonese. Chang last summer captured Peking from the people's army of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang and still holds this city.

Public gatherings in parts of Manchuria has been prohibited, which was interpreted as an evidence of uneasiness among Chang's subordinates at Mukden and Harbin.

It was reported in London that Chang soon would retire to Manchuria and that through agreement with the Cantonese, the latter might occupy Peking in his absence.

ONE AMERICAN STICKS IT OUT

Shanghai, March 28.—At least one American in the Chinese trouble-area does not want the assistance of gunboats, sailors or marines.

He is R. P. Montgomery, a bachelor and a teacher at Hangchow Christian college. Montgomery today was the one foreigner remaining at Hangchow where mobs were parading the streets shouting "Down with Christians!" When his fellow Americans were being evacuated, Montgomery merely told them that he did not desire to leave.

London, March 28.—Obviously pleased at the Anglo-American naval co-operation at Nanking last week, the house of commons cheered today when Sir Austin Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, mentioned that United States sailors had guarded

British and American residents on Standard Oil hill.

Chamberlain was replying to a question. He mentioned "an American sailor" who stood on the roof of a Standard Oil building and signalled to the warships in the river. "There is not the least doubt," said Chamberlain, "that the timely communication with the warships and their timely action saved the lives of British and American citizens."

YANGTZE VALLEY DRAINED OF FOREIGNERS

Shanghai, March 28.—(11:30 P. M.)—The Yangtze valley tonight was being drained of foreigners as the wholesale evacuation of the troubled area continued under the protecting guns of foreign warships. Thirty-five foreigners were expected soon from Soochow and another United States destroyer today was ordered upriver to take aboard refugees.

One hundred and thirty Japanese refugees arrived at Shanghai from Nanking today, and they said all Japanese there were leaving.

CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA NOW HANGS IN BALANCE

REFUGEE MISSIONARIES UN- IVERSALLY DEPRESSED, WITHOUT HOPE

ANOTHER NANKING INCIDENT MAY CAUSE POWERS TO ACT MORE VIGOROUSLY

Shanghai, March 28.—(UP)—The fate of Christianity in China today depended upon many factors, but refugee missionaries were universally depressed and almost without hope. It was feared that another incident similar to that at Nanking would create a situation such that the powers would have to act more vigorously than has been the case so far.

A prominent mission chief here who preferred that his name be withheld, told the United Press that serious trouble lay in the future and that the life work of many Christians in China would be destroyed. Anti-Christianism seemed to be growing. The hope of the missionaries lay with the Chinese converts to Christianity who will have to take over the direction of educational and evangelistic work in the future.

Some of the refugee missionaries have been transferred to Japan and others jam the houses of friends and the mission offices. They are unable to leave Shanghai because all vessels are packed with persons who made reservations weeks ago. There have been no official appeals for assistance, although the congestion becomes worse daily.

Reports from Swatow today said that all Americans except six priests in the interior had been concentrated at Swatow.

80,000 RIFLES DISTRIBUTED TO ITALIAN YOUTHS

WERE FORMALLY MADE FAS- CISTS AT ROME CELE- BRATION

ON 8TH ANNIVERSARY OF BLOOD- LESS CAPTURE OF CITY BY BLACKSHIRTS

Rome, March 28.—(UP)—Eighty thousand rifles were distributed to Italian youths yesterday when they were formally made fascists at a celebration of the eighth anniversary of the bloodless capture of Rome by the blackshirt forces under Premier Mussolini.

Members of the Avanguardisti, a junior fascist organization, who had reached the age of 18, were made full-fledged fascists and boys between 14 and 18 took the oath of the Avanguardisti.

Members of the cabinet, all clad in the black shirts of the organization, and high army officers and foreign military attaches attended the major ceremony in Rome while similar celebrations were taking place through the country.

CHANCE REMARK LEADS TO RECOVERY OF $1,500 CASH

Willmar, Minn., March 28.—(UP)—A chance remark that friends "should take good care of my old clothes" led to the discovery of $1,500 in cash in the pockets of Robert Kurtzbein, farm hand who was taken to the hospital for the insane at St. Peter.

Another $400 was found in the farm worker's pockets when he arrived at St. Peter and property near there swelled the total of Kurtzbein's assets to $1,900.

The former farm hand had worked in the vicinity of St. Peter for the past two years yet no one knew him for anything but a pauper.

SOCIALIST IS SHOCKED, FACES MILLION DOLLARS

ANATOLE JOSEPHO INVENTS A SELF-SERVICE, CAFETERIA- STYLE CAMERA

TAKES 8 PHOTOGRAPHS FOR A QUARTER, INVENTION PUR- CHASED BY NEW YORKERS

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Socialistic principles held by Anatole Josepho today were put to a severe test, for the 33-year-old Russian, who long preached the doctrine of equal division of wealth, has become a millionaire.

Riches came to Josepho because of his invention of a self-service cafeteria-style camera, which takes eight photographs for a quarter. He was handed a check for $1,000,000 by a newly organized company, will continue to receive royalties, and will be an officer and adviser in the corporation which will manufacture his invention.

"I intend to do as much good with the money as I possibly can," Josepho said, adding hastily, "but not forgetting myself."

Some of the money would go to charity, he said; still more would go to aiding other young inventors. And he would need to spend a great deal in perfecting projects of his own.

"Still, I haven't had my wealth long enough to figure out just what I am going to do with it," he continued. Henry Morgenthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey, heads the new company. Associated with him are Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America; John T. Underwood, president of the Underwood Typewriter Co.; Henry Morgenthau, Jr., publisher, and other prominent business men.

One automatic studio has been in operation here for six months and has been patronized by 280,000 customers, including Gov. Smith and Sen. Robert Wagner. Others will be established at Atlantic City and Coney Island soon, and thereafter it is planned to spread the chain from coast to coast, according to Morgenthau.

Josepho was born at Omsk, Siberia, and was educated in Russia. He left that country after the revolution, wandering through Europe and Asia, making a living taking photographs. He came to this country, went to Hollywood to learn the movie industry, and then came to New York, where he managed to finance his invention.

His message, somewhat easing the tension of the last few days, said the threatened mob action against the international settlement at Shanghai Sunday failed to materialize, and consequently he was able to recall to his flagship the landing party he had sent ashore as a precaution.

The presence of added forces in the settlement seemed to have calmed the tempers of the Chinese.

Williams' message was timed 4.05 P. M. March 28, Shanghai time.

Secretary of the Navy Wilbur took President Coolidge reports of the Chinese situation during the forenoon, and afterward told the press the situation appeared somewhat better than the week-end.

Wilbur declined to discuss possible dispatch of more forces than the 1,500 marines ordered Saturday to proceed to China. Some quarters believed, however, it might be decided to send army forces from the Philippines, inasmuch as it will take about 30 days for the marines to reach China.

1,500 ADDITIONAL MARINES TO CHINA

By THOMAS L. STOKES
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 28.—The transport Henderson, which will bear 1,500 additional marines to China, will arrive Sunday at San Diego, according to word to the navy department today from its commander, Capt. Robert Morris.

The Henderson was recalled from Nicaragua to move the new contingent to China.

With this information, the navy started making final plans for concentrating scattered marine forces, and embarking them at the earliest possible moment at San Diego.

OLD FIGHTING SIXTH TO GO TO CHINA

Philadelphia, March 28.—The old fighting sixth regiment of marines which made its name at Chateau Thierry, Belleau Wood and the Argonne, was being reorganized here today for service in China.

Marines from Brooklyn navy yard, Lakehurst, N. J., New London, Newport, Boston, Bingham, Portsmouth, N. H., Fort Mifflin, Pa., Iola Island, Dover, N. J., and Paris Island, S. C., were converging here, where they will entrain for San Diego, sailing point for the Asiatic station.

At San Diego they will be augmented by marines from other parts of the country to bring the regiment, disbanded since the world war, up to full strength.

Brooklyn, N. Y., March 28.—Bound for China, 107 United States marines left the navy yard here today.

Shanghai, March 28.—(6:30 P. M.)—Cantonese nationalist troops and British sailors clashed today on the Yangtze river above Kiukiang, when the Chinese commandeered a British river steamer. A British destroyer briefly went into action, routed the Chinese, and recaptured the vessel.

Evaluation of Chungking was proceeding rapidly today. The six Americans remaining at Chungking were staying at the Standard Oil Company property there with the U. S. S. Paul Jones standing nearby.

The U. S. S. Preble arrived today with American refugees from Tai-chow and Chao-cheng. There were 15 men, 14 women and 18 children. All Americans have been evacuated from Wush and Chanchow. An official statement said seven American missionaries at Kiangyin had been evacuated by a native boat on the night of March 28 and would reach Woosung this evening. Twenty-five Americans from Nanchang arrived at Kiukiang March 26 and were to leave for Shanghai yesterday. Only five Americans would remain at Kiukiang. About 100 American men remained at Hankow today. Americans from Yangchow reported the looting of the Baptist mission.

Potomac poisoning continued to cause distress among the refugees today. Eleven from the steamers Tseantah and Hsiant-Seantah were taken to hospitals today. The crew of the U. S. S. Noa also was badly hit by poisoning but so far there had been no deaths.

Thousands of Chinese today shouted, "Down with the Christians!" during mass meetings at Wuhu and Hanchow. Posters depicted the figure of Christ torn from the cross, and there were caricatures of unprintable content designed to ridicule Chinese Christians as the product of imperialism.

ALL ELEMENTS OF WAR TIME PRESENT

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, March 28.—All the elements of war times—hasty conferences at the White House, urgent dispatch of swift fleet and troop orders, were again in evidence in the national capitol today as officials

moved to cope with the far away Chinese revolution.

As commander-in-chief of the army and navy and dictator of American foreign policy, President Coolidge is being kept in intimate touch with events in the dramatic battle on the other side of the globe to protect American lives and property.

The president is called on the telephone almost every night by Secretary of State Kellogg and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur with information.

During the day Mr. Coolidge and his two secretaries are in an almost continuous series of conferences at the White House. On several occasions Mr. Coolidge has called naval communications personally on the telephone, saying "this is President Coolidge talking; have you received any recent dispatches from China?" In normal times, all the president's telephoning is done by his subordinates.

Mr. Coolidge is keeping perhaps in closer touch with the Chinese situation than with any other problem which has arisen during his administration. He can rectify difficult Chinese names and places, with statistics as to American forces, with all the ease of an expert.

Despite all the activity here, the real "war" is being conducted with a free hand, by Admiral Williams, Admiral Hough and the commanders at the front in China. They have been informed they can have whatever force they deem necessary, and they are at liberty to use their own judgment in protecting American lives with the single restriction that extreme caution should be used. Aiding Williams and his conferees are the diplomats like Minister MacMurray, Consuls Gauss, Davis and others.

The responsibility for the conduct of the "war" is therefore theirs but the generalissimo in Washington are highly anxious over the situation, fearing it may grow into another "Boxer affair" with serious loss of life.

Shanghai, March 28.—Reports from Hangchow today said mobs were parading through the city, shouting "Down with Kai-Shek." The rumors of dissension in the Cantonese nationalist party were confirmed by refugees arriving from Hangchow. The radical faction of the nationalist party was in control of the city, refugees said.

FILIPINOS COMMANDING CANTONESE ARMY UNITS

Manila, March 28.—Filipinos trained in the insular national guard under American instructors are now actively commanding units of the Cantonese army in China, it was learned today.

Several of these officers formerly held high ranking posts in the guard. For more than a year, Cantonese representatives have offered attractive salaries and commissions to experienced military men and many Filipinos have accepted the offers.

Cantonese nationalist success is arousing the keenest interest here and each new manifestation of anti-foreignism is displayed prominently in the newspapers.

JAPAN SENDS PROTEST TO CHINA

London, March 28.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokio today said the Japanese government had sent a protest amounting to an ultimatum to the Cantonese nationalist government of China on receipt of a wireless report that two Japanese had been killed at Nanking.

SPREAD REPORTS OF NATIONALIST SUCCESSES

Peking, March 28.—Reports of nationalist success in the Yangtze valley today were causing restlessness and financial depression in Manchuria, the area controlled by Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, most powerful of the north China opponents of the Cantonese. Chang last summer captured Peking from the people's army of Marshal Feng Yu-Hsiang and still holds this city.

Public gatherings in parts of Manchuria have been prohibited, which was interpreted as an evidence of uneasiness among Chang's subordinates at Mukden and Harbin.

It was reported in London that Chang soon would retire to Manchuria and that through agreement with the Cantonese, the latter might occupy Peking in his absence.

ONE AMERICAN STICKS IT OUT

Shanghai, March 28.—At least one American in the Chinese trouble-area does not want the assistance of gunboats, sailors or marines.

He is R. P. Montgomery, a bachelor and a teacher at Hangchow Christian college. Montgomery today was the one foreigner remaining at Hangchow where mobs were parading the streets shouting "Down with Christians!" When his fellow Americans were being evacuated, Montgomery merely told them that he did not desire to leave.

London, March 28.—Obviously pleased at the Anglo-American naval co-operation at Nanking last week, the house of commons cheered today when Sir Austin Chamberlain, the foreign secretary, mentioned that United States sailors had guarded

British and American residents on Standard Oil hill.

Chamberlain was replying to a question. He mentioned "an American sailor" who stood on the roof of a Standard Oil building and signalled to the warships in the river.

"There is not the least doubt," said Chamberlain, "that the timely communication with the warships and their timely action saved the lives of British and American citizens."

YANGTZE VALLEY DRAINED OF FOREIGNERS

Shanghai, March 28.—(11:30 P. M.)—The Yangtze valley tonight was being drained of foreigners as the wholesale evacuation of the troublesome area continued under the protecting guns of foreign warships.

Thirty-five foreigners were expected soon from Soochow and another United States destroyer today was ordered upriver to take aboard refugees.

One hundred and thirty Japanese refugees arrived at Shanghai from Nanking today, and they said all Japanese there were leaving.

CHRISTIANITY IN CHINA NOW HANGS IN BALANCE

REFUGEE MISSIONARIES UN- IVERSALLY DEPRESSED, WITHOUT HOPE

ANOTHER NANKING INCIDENT MAY CAUSE POWERS TO ACT MORE VIGOROUSLY

Shanghai, March 28.—(UP)—The fate of Christianity in China today depended upon many factors, but refugee missionaries were universally depressed and almost without hope. It was feared that another incident similar to that at Nanking would create a situation such that the powers would have to act more vigorously than has been the case so far.

A prominent mission chief here who preferred that his name be withheld, told the United Press that serious trouble lay in the future and that the life work of many Christians in China would be destroyed. Anti-Christianism seemed to be growing. The hope of the missionaries lay with the Chinese converts to Christianity who will have to take over the direction of educational and evangelistic work in the future.

Some of the refugee missionaries have been transferred to Japan and others jam the houses of friends and the mission offices. They are unable to leave Shanghai because all vessels are packed with persons who made reservations weeks ago. There have been no official appeals for assistance, although the congestion becomes worse daily.

Reports from Swatow today said that all Americans except six priests in the interior had been concentrated at Swatow.

80,000 RIFLES DISTRIBUTED TO ITALIAN YOUTHS

WERE FORMALLY MADE FAS- CISTS AT ROME CELE- BRATION

ON 8TH ANNIVERSARY OF BLOOD- LESS CAPTURE OF CITY BY BLACKSHIRTS

Rome, March 28.—(UP)—Eighty thousand rifles were distributed to Italian youths yesterday when they were formally made fascists at a celebration of the eighth anniversary of the bloodless capture of Rome by the blackshirt forces under Premier Mussolini.

Members of the Avanguardisti, a junior fascist organization, who had reached the age of 18, were made full-fledged fascists and boys between 14 and 18 took the oath of the Avanguardisti.

Members of the cabinet, all clad in the black shirts of the organization, and high army officers and foreign military attaches attended the major ceremony in Rome while similar celebrations were taking place through the country.

CHANCE REMARK LEADS TO RECOVERY OF $1,500 CASH

Willmar, Minn., March 28.—(UP)—A chance remark that friends "should take good care of my old clothes" led to the discovery of $1,500 in cash in the pockets of Robert Kurtzbein, farm hand who was taken to the hospital for the insane at St. Peter.

Another $400 was found in the farm worker's pockets when he arrived at St. Peter and property near where swelled the total of Kurtzbein's assets to $10,000.

The former farm hand had worked in the vicinity of St. Peter for the past two years yet no one knew him for anything but a pauper.

SOCIALIST IS SHOCKED, FACES MILLION DOLLARS

ANATOLE JOSEPHO INVENTS A SELF-SERVICE, CAFETERIA- STYLE CAMERA

TAKES 8 PHOTOGRAPHS FOR A QUARTER, INVENTION PUR- CHASED BY NEW YORKERS

New York, March 28.—(UP)—Socialistic principles held by Anatole Josepho today were put to a severe test, for the 33-year-old Russian, who long preached the doctrine of equal division of wealth, has become a millionaire.

Riches came to Josepho because of his invention of a self-service cafeteria-style camera, which takes eight photographs for a quarter. He was handed a check for $1,000,000 by a newly organized company, will continue to receive royalties, and will be an officer and adviser in the corporation which will manufacture his invention.

"I intend to do as much good with the money as I possibly can," Josepho said, adding hastily, "but not forgetting myself."

Some of the money would go to charity, he said; still more would go to aiding other young inventors. And he would need to spend a great deal in perfecting projects of his own.

"Still, I haven't had my wealth long enough to figure out just what I am going to do with it," he continued.

Henry Morgenthau, former United States ambassador to Turkey, heads the new company. Associated with him are Gen. James G. Harbord, president of the Radio Corporation of America; John T. Underwood, president of the Underwood Typewriter Co.; Henry Morgenthau, Jr., publisher, and other prominent business men.

One automatic studio has been in operation here for six months and has been patronized by 280,000 customers, including Gov. Smith and Sen. Robert Wagner. Others will be established at Atlantic City and Coney Island soon, and thereafter it is planned to spread the chain from coast to coast, according to Morgenthau.

Josepho was born at Omsk, Siberia, and was educated in Russia. He left that country after the revolution, wandering through Europe and Asia, making a living taking photographs. He came to this country, went to Hollywood to learn the movie industry, and then came to New York, where he managed to finance his invention.

Representatives from Ohio and Indiana appeared before Charles Evans Hughes to give rebuttal testimony to the effect that Illinois is "stealing" the water.
